Dear Madam:-

In response to your letter of the 30th ult., I beg to state that our Curator, Mr. Wood, is absent at the present time, but I am sure he would be glad to look over the collection you describe, and if you could call here next Wednesday afternoon, I think that would be an entirely convenient appointment for him, and you could let us know in the meantime whether it would be for you.

Yours very truly,

Secretary.

Dear Sir.

In reply to your note suggesting Wednesday afternoon as a convenient time for me to call to show my collection of East Indian Coins to Mr. Wood. I very much regret that it will be impossible for me to go in town on that day.

I will not make any engagement for Thursday or Friday of this week until hearing from you - if either of these days would be a convenient time for me to call -

Thanking you for your courteous reply to my note of inquiry - I am -

Dear Madam:-

I neglected to take the business address of your brother when he was here with the coins about which you wrote, and I am therefore replying to you. Our Curator, Mr. Wood, who unfortunately was absent at the time your brother called, tells me that the pieces left here are worth about $8.00, and that we will take them at that figure if you are willing to accept it. The gold piece, which Mr. Mosely showed me and of which I took an impression, is a Mohur of the Mogul Emperor Mohammed Shah (1719-1748). It was struck at Shah Janahabad, and has a value of between seven and eight dollars.

Awaiting your reply, I am,

Yours very truly,

Secretary.
